ABSTRACT

The Pradhan Mantri Gramin Awas Yojana (PMGAY), launched in 2016 by the Government of India, is a flagship rural housing scheme aimed at providing "Housing for All" by 2028. The target under the PMAY-G was construction of 2.95 crores pakka houses with basic amenities by March 2024, out of which almost all houses have been sanctioned and 2.69 crores houses have been completed till end of the financial year 23-24. The program is implemented under the Ministry of Rural Development and provides financial assistance of ₹1.2 lakh for plains and ₹1.3 lakh for difficult terrains. PMGAY focuses on social inclusion by giving preference to marginalized groups including Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes, minorities, and women. Beneficiaries are selected based on the Socio-Economic and Caste Census (SECC) 2011, ensuring transparency and targeting those most in need. One of the key features of the scheme is convergence with other government schemes like Swachh Bharat Abhiyan (toilets), Ujjwala Yojana (LPG connection), Saubhagya Yojana (electricity), and the National Rural Drinking Water Programme, enabling a holistic approach to rural development. By empowering rural communities with secure housing and basic amenities, PMGAY plays a critical role in reducing poverty, enhancing dignity, and promoting socio-economic upliftment. The scheme also boosts local employment and construction activities, contributing to rural economic growth. As PMGAY progresses toward its goal of "Housing for All," it continues to represent a major stride in India's mission to ensure sustainable and inclusive rural development.

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Status of Poverty in India

Poverty and unemployment continue to be among the most pressing challenges in India's developmental journey. High levels of poverty reflect in poor living conditions, lack of access to education, malnutrition, and a generally low standard of human development. Across political spectrums, poverty eradication has remained a shared objective, reflected in numerous schemes and programs over the decades. However, despite this national consensus, poverty remains a persistent issue. India continues to house nearly 20% of the global population living on less than one dollar per day, highlighting the magnitude of the problem. There are in fact many approaches for measuring poverty. Some analysts focus on deprivations of people in terms of health, education, sanitation or housing. There are, however, many problems associated with this approach including difficulties in aggregating deprivations on several scores derived from different sources. Perhaps the best approach is look at it in terms of certain minimum consumption expenditure per person or preferably per household. Any household failing to meet this level of consumption expenditure can be treated as a poor household. This minimum level of consumption expenditure can be derived, in turn, in terms of minimum expenditure on food and non-food items. The poverty ratio, which is the ratio of number of poor to the total population is expressed as percentage. It is also known as HCR (head count ratio). The poverty ratio is measured from an exogenously determined poverty line quantified in terms of per capita consumption expenditure over a month and the class distribution of persons obtained from the large sample survey of consumer expenditure data of the National Sample Survey Office (NSSO). (Rangarajan & Mahendra Dev, 2022)

1.2 Status of BPL in India

Below Poverty Line (BPL) is an economic criterion used to identify individuals and households that are eligible for various forms of government support. Over time, changes in poverty lines and estimates have shown a slow but steady decline in poverty levels across rural and urban India. For instance, the total number of people below the poverty line in 1993-94 stood at 403.7 million, while this number decreased to 269.3 million by 2011-12. The poverty ratio fell from 45.3% to 21.9% in the same period, showing progress in reducing economic vulnerability.

A number of empirical studies have been conducted that explore the divergent proposals for the new BPL exercise empirically analyse the pilot census for SECC 2011 and find that an extended set of exclusion criteria would automatically exclude 28% of the rural population compared to only 8.3% by the set of exclusion criteria proposed by Saxena. compares the 2002 BPL methodology and the Saxena proposal using the survey data from 18 wards of four gram panchayats in two districts in West Bengal and Bihar, and finds Saxena to be more accurate. (Alkire & Seth, 2012)

1.3 Current Poverty Rate in India

According to a 2024 report from the State Bank of India, India's poverty rate has seen a sharp decline, now estimated to be between 4% and 4.5%. Rural poverty fell to 4.86% in FY24, while urban poverty was at 4.09%. These estimates are based on adjusted poverty lines that account for inflation, and they reflect significant improvements in consumption growth, especially among the lower income groups. Government interventions and subsidies have played a critical role in this transition, although the final numbers may slightly change with the upcoming census updates.

1.4 India Poverty Rate Over the Years

Historical data from the World Bank, based on the $2.15 poverty line, shows a consistent downward trend in India's poverty rate over several decades. From over 63% in 1977, the rate reduced significantly to 11.9% by 2021. This long-term decline demonstrates the impact of economic growth and welfare policies in lifting millions out of extreme poverty, though fluctuations have occurred in certain years due to global or domestic challenges.

Public housing programme in the country started with the rehabilitation of refugees immediately after independence and since then, it has been a major focus area of the Government as an instrument of poverty alleviation. Rural housing program, as an independent programme, started with Indira Awaas Yojana (IAY) in January, 1996. Although IAY addressed the housing needs in the rural areas, certain gaps were identified during the course of performance audit in 2014. These gaps include non-assessment of housing shortage, lack of transparency in selection of beneficiaries, low quality of house and lack of technical supervision, lack of convergence, loans not availed by beneficiaries and weak mechanism for monitoring, were limiting the impact and outcomes of the programme. In order to address these gaps in the rural housing program and in view of Government's commitment to provide "Housing for All" by 2022, the scheme of IAY has been restructured into Pradhan Mantri Awaas Yojana - Gramin (PMAYG) (Reddy et al., n.d.)

1.5 International Thoughts to Resolve Problems Related to Poverty

Globally, eradicating poverty remains a top priority. While rapid development in countries like India and China has reduced the number of people in extreme poverty, challenges remain. As of 2015, 736 million people worldwide still lived on less than $1.90 per day. Women, in particular, are more likely to experience poverty due to inequalities in education, employment, and asset ownership. Climate change, conflicts, and food insecurity also continue to worsen poverty in many regions. The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) aim to reduce poverty by 2030 through inclusive policies, improved access to resources, and targeted support to the most vulnerable populations.

The concept of poverty is central to contemporary meanings invested in "development." Whether reviewing the academic literature, the documents produced by international and bilateral aid agencies, the plans of governments in developing countries, the World Wide Web, or the media, "poverty" and its alleviation, reduction, and eradication appear as a major—often the major—development issue. From early twenty-first-century perspectives this might look natural, but, like all analytical and narrative positions, the relationship between poverty and development is socially constructed. Indeed, poverty has not always been at the heart of development thinking. (Hulme, 2014)

1.6 Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana-Gramin (PMAY-G)

To overcome these shortcomings, the government of India launched an initiative called The Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (PMAY) with the purpose of offering inexpensive accommodation to the weaker sections of society, such as low-income persons, the urban poor, and the rural poor. By March 31, 2022, the Yojana will have built around 20 million households with affordable pricing. The Central Government is allocating USD 31 billion for the implementation of this scheme. PMAY has two components: Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Urban) (PMAY-U) for the urban poor and Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Gramin) for the rural poor (PMAY-G). (Balamurugan, 2023)

Launched to achieve the goal of "Housing for All" in rural India, PMAY-G seeks to provide housing and basic amenities to eligible households. Since its inception in 2016, the scheme has made significant progress, with over 2.69 crore houses completed as of February 2025. The government has approved an extension of the scheme to build an additional 2 crore houses by 2029. Monitoring is conducted using geo-tagged data and periodic inspections to ensure transparency and accountability. The use of technology has enabled real-time progress tracking, with direct benefit transfers to beneficiaries' bank accounts ensuring efficient fund disbursement.

2. OBJECTIVES

The primary objective of this study is to evaluate the implementation and impact of the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana – Gramin (PMAY-G) in the AZAMGARH district of Uttar Pradesh, specifically focusing on the blocks of AHIRLA, ATRAULIA, AZMATGARH, BILARIYAGANJ and HARAIYA. The study aims to understand the ground realities of the scheme and propose measures for its better execution.

To begin with, the study intends to identify the existing challenges and problems faced by rural households in availing the benefits of PMAY-G in the selected blocks. This includes exploring issues such as lack of awareness, delays in construction, corruption, or mismatch between beneficiary expectations and the actual support provided.

Once the problems are identified, the study will attempt to develop appropriate solutions that can address these gaps effectively. These solutions may be based on policy suggestions, administrative reforms, or community-driven approaches which ensure better reach and utilization of the scheme.

Further, the study seeks to design and propose a feasible implementation model that can enhance the overall functioning of PMAY-G in these rural areas. This model would focus on improving transparency, timely fund disbursement, and community involvement to ensure that the intended benefits reach the rightful beneficiaries.

The final objective of the study is to assess the social and economic impact of the PMAY-G scheme on the beneficiaries post-implementation. This includes analyzing how the scheme has improved their living conditions, provided financial stability, or contributed to their overall well-being.

Through this logical sequence—from identifying the problem to proposing and assessing a solution—the study aims to provide a comprehensive understanding of the PMAY-G scheme's effectiveness in the context of Azamgarh district.

3. METHODOLOGY

3.1 Secondary Data

Sources of data collection for completing the sample survey, I have collected the data from the official application of PRADHAN MANTRI GRAMIN AWAS YOJANA and for comparative statistics the census data of 2011 was used. For writing my introduction I have taken the data from the books like UMA KAPILA, NITIN SINGHANIYA, the table for references and the figures mentioned above are taken from the websites of nodal ministries like MINISTRY OF RURAL DEVELOPMENT, MINISTRY OF HOME AFFAIRS. The following survey is for educational purpose in the fulfillment of MA(ECONOMICS) Degree.

3.2 Sampling Design

- To study of various Housing Project in India
- To understand the conceptual framework of Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana(Rural)
- To understand the schemes and plans of central and state governments for massive low cost housing

- To analyse about the implementation process of Pradhan Mantri AwasYojana.
- To assess the role of the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (Rural) in financial inclusion in India

3.3 Tools Used

For conducting this survey I have used the following tools-

- MS EXCEL
- MS WORD
- TABLAU

3	AZMATGARH	101	263
4	BILARIYAGANJ	116	221
5	HARAIYA	84	176

The table provides information on the number of Panchayats and villages in different blocks of Azamgarh district under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana - Gramin (PMAY-G). It lists five blocks—Ahiraula, Atraulia, Azmatgarh, Bilariyaganj, and Haraiya—where the number of Panchayats and villages are in Table. This data is essential for implementing rural housing schemes and ensuring proper distribution of resources under PMAY-G.

Table 3: Total number of Beneficiary from 2017-2024 Year- Wise

Year	AHIRAULA	ATRAULIA	AZMATGARH	BILARIYAGANJ	HARAIYA
2017	1238	961	669	481	406
2018	474	220	245	72	108
2019	14	5	1	0	0

2023	350	561	437	265	1585
2024	21	23	24	3	23

This dataset on PMAY-G beneficiaries in Azamgarh district from 2017 to 2024 shows marked fluctuations across its five blocks. In 2017, beneficiary numbers were relatively high across all blocks—Ahiraula at 1238, Atraulia at 961, Azmatgarh at 669, Bilariyaganj at 481, and Haraiya at 406—but these figures dropped sharply in the following years, with very few beneficiaries recorded in 2019 and 2020. A dramatic surge occurred in 2021 and 2022, especially in Azmatgarh (peaking at 2802 in 2021) and Bilariyaganj (2614 in 2021), before declining again in 2023 and reaching minimal numbers by 2024. This filtered view highlights the temporal trends and significant variances in PMAY-G implementation, offering a concise basis for analyzing factors such as program outreach, funding, or reporting differences over the years.

The visualizations present the total number of PMAY-G beneficiaries in different blocks of Azamgarh district from 2017 to 2024. The bar chart shows that Azmatgarh has the highest number of beneficiaries, followed closely by Ahiraula and Haraiya, while Atraulia has the lowest count. The pie chart highlights the proportional distribution of beneficiaries, where Azmatgarh accounts for the largest share (23.5%), followed by Ahiraula (21.9%) and Haraiya (20.2%). Bilariyaganj and Atraulia have comparatively lower shares. This data helps in understanding the reach of the housing scheme in different blocks over the years.

Table 4: Gender Wise Data of House Completed During 2017-2024

AZMATGARH	1157	3513	1091
BILARIYAGANJ	603	1511	2562
HARAIYA	1679	3150	106

The table represents the gender-wise distribution of PMAY-G beneficiaries across different blocks of Azamgarh district. It categorizes the beneficiaries into three groups: male, female, and joint ownership (husband & wife). The data shows that females constitute the majority of beneficiaries in all blocks, indicating a preference for granting housing schemes to women. Joint ownership is also significant in Bilariyaganj and Ahiraula, while male beneficiaries are comparatively lower across all blocks, with Haraiya having the highest number of male beneficiaries. This distribution highlights the scheme's emphasis on empowering women through homeownership.

Graphical Representation of gender-wise distribution of PMAY-G beneficiaries across different blocks of Azamgarh. The bar chart highlights that female beneficiaries are significantly higher in all blocks, while joint ownership is also prominent, particularly in Bilariyaganj and Ahiraula. Male beneficiaries are the least in all blocks, with Haraiya having the highest count. This visualization reinforces the scheme's focus on female empowerment and joint ownership in rural housing.

The table represents the PMAY-G fund allocation (in Lakhs) across different blocks of Azamgarh district from 2017 to 2024. The data highlights significant variations in funding over the years. The highest allocations were recorded in 2021 and 2022, particularly in Azmatgarh and Bilariyaganj, indicating peak implementation of the scheme. Funding declined sharply in 2019 and 2020, followed by a massive increase in 2021 and 2022. The trend shows fluctuating financial support, with a notable dip in 2024, suggesting a possible slowdown in disbursements or nearing scheme completion. This analysis helps understand funding trends and their impact on rural housing development in the district.

BILARIYAGANJ	126529	126460	252989
HARAIYA	99061	100604	199665

The data represents the population distribution across five blocks of Azamgarh district, categorized by gender. Ahiraula has the highest population of 205,398, followed by Bilariyaganj with 252,989, making it the most populated block. Azmatgarh and Haraiya have populations of 217,374 and 199,665, respectively, while Atraulia has the lowest population at 128,503. In all blocks, the female population is slightly higher than the male population, indicating a balanced gender ratio.

The bar chart illustrates the population distribution across five blocks: Ahiraula, Atraulia, Azmatgarh, Bilariyaganj, and Haraiya. The population is categorized into male, female, and total population for each block. Bilariyaganj has the highest population, followed by Azmatgarh and Ahiraula. Atraulia has the lowest population among the five. The population distribution appears fairly balanced between males and females in all blocks. The total population is represented by the tallest green bars, reflecting the sum of males and females in each block.

This dataset represents the distribution of households across different social categories in five blocks of Azamgarh district: Ahiraula, Atraulia, Azmatgarh, Bilariyaganj, and Haraiya. The General category holds the highest number of households in all blocks, with Azmatgarh (3,664) and Ahiraula (3,707) leading. The Scheduled Caste (SC) population is significant in all blocks, with the highest in Azmatgarh (2,367) and Bilariyaganj (2,424). The Scheduled Tribe (ST) population is the lowest across all blocks, particularly in Atraulia (only 3).

The Minority group also has a presence across all blocks, with Azmatgarh (344) and Bilariyaganj (305) having the highest numbers. The Physically Handicapped (PH) category has a minimal presence, with only a few households recorded in Atraulia, Azmatgarh, Bilariyaganj, and Haraiya. The Others category, which may include economically weaker sections or unclassified groups, shows a strong presence, with numbers comparable to the General category, particularly in Ahiraula (3,458) and Azmatgarh (3,323).

This data highlights the diversity in social composition across different blocks, with varying levels of representation among different groups.
